

Photos from the book launch

*The poster announcing the launching of the book
"Maestro Fernando C. Amorsolo: Recollections of the Amorsolo Family"*

6:00pm on March 25, 2009

The Blue Leaf, Banyan
*100 Park Avenue, McKinley Hill Village
Fort Bonifacio, Taguig City*

The book unveiled

Prominent businessman and contributing writer Mikee Romero gives a speech at the the book launching.

Philippine Star columnist Alfred "Krip" Yuson (extreme right) and his fellow San Beda alumni pose in front of the welcoming banner to the Amorsolo book launching. Yuson and his friends were colleagues of the artist's son Delfin Amorsolo at San Beda University.

Full House!

The acclaimed Bayanihan Dancers perform during the festivities. Dressed in attire that mimics Amorsolo's color palette, Bayanihan Dancers adds life to the night's event by interpreting traditional Amorsolo rural scenes during their dance routine

Bayanihan Dancers strike poses similar to the unveiled paintings.

Dancer in white portrays Amorsolo as a young man embarking on his career.

Viewing of the paintings

Below, the artist's daughter Christy, views his paintings with her friend.

One of Amorsolo's paintings graces the front of the bar during the festivities.